Just Give Us a Reason for a Parade

Here in Mobile we are known for our parades. Mardi Gras season gives us a host of parades carefully choreographed over several parade routes. Mardi Gras also gives us a chance to see and show off our cars.

Though most people associate Mardi Gras with New Orleans, Mobile, Alabama, began holding the festival in 1703, 15 years before it started in Louisiana. Based on a French Catholic tradition, the celebration is now a city-wide holiday in Mobile, where even schools close down to celebrate.

Mobile had been the original capital city of the French Louisiana territory, but its location made locals wary of destruction by hurricane. The capital was then moved to New Orleans in 1718, and the celebration followed.

In 1866, the Mardi Gras parade was resurrected in Mobile. Those taking part in the parade were usually parts of secret societies, and each of these societies would create magnificent floats and costumes.

Today, thousands of Alabamians and visitors come to Mobile annually to participate in the various parades, which are sponsored by local mystic societies comprised of secret members. Presiding over the revelry are an elected king and queen, who are chosen each year from among the various societies. At the parades, spectators catch candy and trinkets thrown from elaborately decorated themed floats and take part in one of the America's oldest cultural celebrations.

The Civil War brought a halt to such celebratory activities, and in April 1865, Union troops took control of the city. Mobile's Mardi Gras festivities resumed unexpectedly the following year when Joseph Stillwell Cain, a local clerk and former member of the Tea Drinkers Mystic Society, led a parade through the occupied city dressed as a fictional Indian named Chief Slackabamarinico. Cain exuberantly declared an end to Mobile's suffering and signaled the return of the city's parading activities, to the delight of local residents. He also succeeded in moving Mobile's celebration from New Year's Eve to the traditional Fat Tuesday.

Mardi Gras means various things to different segments of Mobile's population. Some see the associated events as a tremendous boost to the city's economy. Others see the annual merriment as a constant economic and moral drain on the city. Each year, Mobile's Carnival activities grow in size and cost. What began as a one-day celebration before Lent has evolved into weeks of carefully scripted events, culminating with the day-long parade of mystic societies through the downtown streets on Fat Tuesday.

Thousands of Mobilians and tourists fill downtown parade routes and await incoming treats. The multi-colored beads thrown in other cities are considered skimpy fare in Mobile, where floats are piled high with toys, candy, and Mobile's signature treat: the Moonpie. You can usually find the Mobile dignitaries riding in a convertible.

What Are You Going to do in the Wintertime?

By Charlie Froehlich

Even down here in the south winter time activities really fall off. While we seldom have snow and ice the weather is not consistently warm enough to allow for our usual car shows, cruise nights and tours. So, what should we do in the winter? That question came up at a recent club meeting of the Picayune, MS Boulevard Cruisers. After a discussion it was decided we should try to visit a car collection or other hobby related location. This would be something we could do on a nice day driving our collector cars or change over to our newer vehicles if the weather was not agreeable. With a few phone calls to some nice folks we were invited to visit the Jim Henderson Collection in Mobile with assistance from the Deep South Region. So, problem solved.

The chosen day was Saturday, February 13, 2016, which turned out to be a beautiful day. The Boulevard Cruisers departed from Picayune at 8:30 am, drove down to Interstate 10 and headed east. We picked up several vehicles that were awaiting us along designated spots and then stopped at a rest area east of Biloxi. Here we were met by members of the Mississippi Coast Mustang Club who joined our caravan. We again headed east and arrived at Henderson's Museum in Mobile at 10:30 am.

At Henderson's we were welcomed by Deep South Region members and the museum staff along with refreshments. Jim was not there at the time of our arrival but came in a little later from a cement pouring project. The tour group spread out throughout the buildings. Much has been added since our last visit and no one was disappointed. After an hour and a half of looking, visiting, commenting, questioning, etc. it was time to move on. The tour group then split up, some going to Dick Russell's for Barbeque and others going elsewhere for lunch. Everyone made their own arrangements for traveling home, in small groups or singly as per their choosing.

It was a great day for driving and all had a wonderful time at the Museum. A big thank you to Jim Henderson and the Deep South Region.

We are the Gateway to the Future – What are you Doing?

By Tabetha Hammer, VP - Youth Development

One of the most common topics when it comes to discussing the future of the collector community is youth involvement. We've all said or heard numerous statements like 'kids today are only interested in their iPhones and video games' and 'what's going to happen to our cars if there's no one who cares about them in the future?'

We certainly are up against a lot of distractions considering the amount of technology readily at their disposal. However, in my day-to-day work leading youth initiatives, I see strong potential – not 'doom and gloom' – so long as we continue to put forth the effort to get younger people involved.

We all have it in our own power to make a difference and influence what the landscape of the classic car community will be in the future. There is no doubt that the 'playing field' will somewhat change from what we all know it to be today – but each of us holds the steering wheel for helping guide what that future scene will be.

Efforts need not to be complicated, but the effort must be there – from all of us. It can be as simple as inviting a young person to sit in your car or even taking them and their parent(s) for a quick ride (if comfortable doing so), teaching them the proper way to get in and out of a classic car instead of just assuming they will know, pointing out unique characteristics that they may not have any idea about otherwise, and connecting aspects of old cars to something that they can relate to today.

I would love to hear from you about what you and/or your region is doing to get youth involved! Do your members take their cars to a local school? Is there a 'sparkplug' in your club who always invites kids to sit in their car? What fun and unique ideas are you doing that another Region/Chapter might be able to implement? Send me a quick note at thammer@hagerty.com to let me know what you're up to!

Minutes from the January Meeting

1/28/2016 Meeting

The call to meeting was made by Zeno followed by the prayer and the Pledge of Allegiance.

Old Business

- Dues are due by the end of February—if they are not in, your name will not be in the roster.
- If anyone has any input for the Sparkplug, please contact the editor, Charlotte Dahlenburg.
- Next months meeting (February) will feature chili & soup. If you would like to bring anything, please feel free.

New Business

- A motion to approve the financial report was made by Walt Fuller and seconded by Buddy Paquett.
- Also—REMEMBER YOUR DUES
- There was a lack of sign-ups for the Westminster Village Mardi Gras Parade. This was a due to a number of activities in the area and other obligations. Because of this, Walt Fuller has proposed that as a club we opt-out.
- In regards to the bathroom floor, we have decided to make one larger, handicap accessible bathroom.

- As a club, a new fundraiser needs to come under consideration in the possible form of a swap meet, etc. Further discussion will come once Mother's Day Car Show committee meetings begin.
- If you have anything you are willing to donate to the Eagle's Landing please contact Patt Paquett. They accept nearly anything especially hangers, clothes, food, pots and pans, etc.

Attendance (26 members and 6 visitors—thank you for visiting us!). The call to adjourn was motioned by Buddy Paquett and seconded by Walt Fuller.

Getting Ready for the Car Show

Car shows can be a lot of fun, that's why people find a way to go no matter how bad the economy is. If you only participate for the camaraderie and the opportunity to show off your car that is awesome, and you are a winner every time out!

The cleanliness and presentation are just as important as condition, even more so in some cases! Sweat the details and the rest will take care of itself, this applies to every aspect of your car.

For safety as well as appearance all the tires should be in good condition without excessive wear or dry rot. All of the tires should be the same size unless purposely staggered. Tire brand and style should be consistent on all four corners. For stock classes, cars which did not come with radial tires generally lose points for having them.

If you do favor a shinier look for your tires apply a high quality vinyl and rubber dressing after cleaning the tires. Use a clean, lint-free cloth to apply the dressing,

Top Ten Things to Clean

1. Start by cleaning the engine and engine compartment. This will ensure that any dirt and grease that lands on the vehicle during engine compartment cleaning will be washed off during the initial rinsing and car washing. Cover the fender tops with towels to protect them from any harsh degreasers you may use.
2. Wash your wheels next to prevent contamination from cleaners, brake dust, and dirt from being spattered back onto the body around the wheel opening areas as you rinse.
3. Rinse the large dirt and grime particles off of the finish before you hit it with a sponge and grind those contaminants into the paint finish. Always use soap that's specifically made for car washing. Dishwashing detergent is not the way to go, as it's much too strong and contains no surface conditioners or natural oils that aid in rinsing. If you're using a car wash shampoo that contains natural oils, remember to rinse frequently and well so those oils aren't allowed to dry on the car causing hazing.
4. After the car has been thoroughly washed and rinsed it's then time to dry it off in preparation for a good wax job. Use a natural chamois or Microfiber towels. Microfiber products are extremely soft and like a chamois will absorb over seven times its weight in water.
5. Waxes seal the surface and protect paint from environmental elements. Apply wax in as thin a coating as possible, and try using one of those Microfiber towel products as a final wipe.
6. Always use a dedicated sponge or wash mitt for use on your tires, and never use them on your cars finish.
7. After cleaning your tires, let them dry completely (at least 30 minutes) before applying a dressing.
8. Never use household detergents, abrasives, or petroleum distillates on vinyl interior components, a mild soap (like Ivory) and warm water works well. Mildew bacteria can be killed and cleaned by using a medium/soft brush and a 4 to 1 mixture of water and ammonia; then rinse with cool water.
9. Carpet cleaning is a must for often used vehicles. For stubborn stains, use a soft-bristled brush to agitate deep down into the carpet's fibers, using circular, overlapping motions. Finally, blot the moist area with another clean terry cloth towel.
10. The final bit of detailing in the process should be the interior glass. For best results use an automotive glass cleaner versus a household ammonia-based one. Household glass cleaner is not formulated to remove vinyl fog etc. like the automotive version is.

never spray it directly onto the tires and the pavement in front of it! Be sure to remove any obvious pebbles from the tire tread once you arrive on the show field.

Wheels or wheel covers should be clean and free of rust or corrosion, dents or curb rash. Most quality tire shops can balance your wheels without putting any weights on the front side. If you ask nicely they may even index your white letters in relation to the valve stems. Align your center caps as well, it's the smallest of details which really add up!

Damaged wheel trim rings or hubcaps should be repaired or replaced if available. Steel wheels should be nicely painted without any ghost images from old wheel weights. Aluminum wheels can be polished or refinished as required. All lug nuts should be present, matching and in good condition. Replace any rusted or rounded off lug nuts. When displaying your car straighten the wheels if parked straight. If parked at an angle you may angle the wheels slightly to one side for effect, but be sure the steering wheel is positioned straight.

One area of a car which is commonly overlooked is the trunk or cargo area. It's easy just to keep it closed or use it for storing your extra chairs or cleaning supplies. But the trunk does matter at a car show. Some were originally sprayed the body color and some were done in speckle paint, if you plan to compete in a stock class be sure to replace the original finish. Be sure the weatherstrip is in good condition and the trunk light works if so equipped, it can usually be unplugged until judging time so as not to drain the battery. Research and install the correct jack instructions for your particular car in its proper location. Most of these have been reproduced.

Let's address the all-important engine compartment. The engine compartment represents an opportunity for detailing which can make or break a show car. Some automakers painted the engine bay the body color, on other cars it was done in black. Regardless of the color it should be painted before installation of the engine and accessories. Should you need to respray it with the engine in place, remove as much as possible including the brake booster and lines, battery, wiring harness etc. Whatever remains can be masked with tape or even aluminum foil. The complete engine can even be protected with Saran Wrap. Just take your time and do it right, even a couple days of preparation is time well spent! The rule here is that there shouldn't be a speck of color anywhere it shouldn't be, even firewall screws installed from inside should be removed or have their threads taped off. This is the type of care which will set your car apart from the others.

When reassembling the engine compartment use only new or refinished fasteners, and for stock restorations replace all of the correct underhood decals, new rubber hood bumpers and authentic hose clamps rather than the parts store worm-gear type. Fine Lines reproduction fuel and brake lines are available for many vehicles. Be sure to replace the hood insulation if originally equipped. If a reproduction battery is unavailable make your own by installing a reproduction sticker or painting a new battery. Old style battery caps can be used on a new battery if it isn't a sealed type. Cast iron exhaust manifolds can be sandblasted and coated with an Exhaust Manifold Coating for a permanently new appearance. Research your particular car if you are doing a stock restoration in order to refinish the engine, air cleaner, booster and master cylinder, etc. correctly. Pay attention to the belts, hoses, wiring and battery cables, you know the judges will.

Once your engine compartment is finished spend as much time as needed to keep it clean. Dust the top side after every drive and keep those chrome accessories polished. Stay on top of those pesky fluid leaks and with reasonable care your engine bay will look just as nice in 20 years! The same rules apply for the underside of your show car. Invest as much time as necessary to keep it clean.

Bodywork and paint separate the truly great cars from all the rest so don't cut corners here! If you are fortunate to have nice factory original paint cherish it, cars are only original once. But be careful because older paint can become thin at the edges and elsewhere and can easily be buffed through. Brand new paint can also be ruined this way if you are not skilled with a buffer.

When the occasional car washing is required, use only high quality liquid car wash soap, never dish detergent unless you're planning to reapply the wax anyway. Speaking of wax, this should be done at least once a year if your car is outside at all. Take your time and do it right. There shouldn't be a speck of wax visible anywhere when you are finished. For this reason do not use a spray wax which will end up inside your cowl vents and in other inaccessible places. Use only bottled liquid or paste type car wax which doesn't have a "cleaner" which can dull your paint.

No matter how nice your paint job is, dull, dented or faded trim can ruin the whole effect. Upgrade these items as your budget allows. Be sure that your bumpers are straight and centered on the car. Dinged or scratched aluminum or stainless trim can be straightened and polished to look brand new again. Many painted emblems or engine ID logos can be refinished by thinning the paint and letting it flow into the emblem.

Be sure that all lights and the horn are operational. Broken or cracked lenses should be replaced with reproductions or good originals when available. Plastic lenses can be polished if dull. Halogens may cost you points on an older car. Don't overlook your license plates either. Be sure they are not bent or crooked. An original dealer frame for the rear plate is ultra cool! Be sure the license plate screws are matched and not rusted. Again it comes down to the smallest details. Racing stickers are subject to individual taste on a street car. A couple of period correct stickers on a street machine are great, so is a tasteful car club decal or grille badge.

Window glass should be free of defects and proper cleaning is crucial for competition. For excellent results use your favorite glass cleaner along with balled up newspaper for absolutely no streaks. If your windshield is cracked, chipped, delaminating or scuffed from the wipers install a new one at your earliest opportunity, your view will be greatly improved and for a show car it will likely stay that way forever. For your new windshield install new wiper refills, even if you don't plan to use them.

Moving inside, the passenger compartment is another area where your car can outshine the others if you take the time to do it right. Interior plastic parts require special care, if these parts are in good condition wash them with soapy water, allow to air dry then apply a quality plastic protectant. Broken pieces can be upgraded with better ones. Faded trim can often be recolored.

Clean the instrument panel regularly including those dusty AC vents. Use a lint-free cloth or damp Q-Tip here. After cleaning them align all of the vents. On newer cars rotate the lighter so the smoke symbol is going up. Again it's the smallest details which people notice at a show.

Faded carpeting should be dyed or replaced. And don't skimp on the vacuuming time, don't stop until I can't see a single crumb of anything in the carpet or floor mats. Door panel care is the same as for the dash. Keep the chrome parts polished, window cranks should be a mirror image of each other, generally facing downward when the glass is raised. On the show field your seatbelts should be stowed properly or arranged uniformly on both sides.

Finally, be considerate of the other participants around you, keep your stuff in your own space and don't offend others with your car's sound system.

Hopefully you have gained at least some small bit of information which will allow you to better enjoy your next car show, and possibly even win an award you otherwise would have missed.

Letter From the Editor

Volunteering is something I enjoy doing. I love the gratification you get when you feel like you have made a difference in someone's life. I particularly like to work with youth. Investing in youth to empower them to build a strong future for us can only benefit mankind.

This year I was given an opportunity to volunteer for youth at St. Jude Children's Hospital. I was asked to be on the committee for the 3rd Annual Joy of Life Ball held here in Mobile.

The event included food from many local restaurants and the band Rubiks Groove out of Nashville and was held at the Cruise Terminal. Our King and Queen were both local cancer survivor patients that had their treatment at St. Jude.

I spent many weeks talking to businesses about donating items for our silent auction. I was shocked at how many business owners new someone from our area that had received care from St. Jude Children's Hospital. After paying for all the expenses of hosting a ball we raised more than 70,000 for St. Jude.

Also this year I had to opportunity to ride along with Scott Henderson and John Williams in the Volunteers of America Mardi Gras Parade. This was a thrill to see the sweet faces of the people as they tried to catch the beads and dance to the music.

This Mardi Gras Parade was about those that are challenged. What a thrill it was to make a moment for them. There were smiles and laughter was everywhere.

I am looking forward to this year. You never know how or when you will get the chance to help others.

The Project Car

Finding a suitable project car is probably the most fun you'll have with your restoration until it's completed. It's also the most important decision you'll make. Having a good idea of what you want will help target your research efforts better. This project car column will provide you with some tips to help you make the best decision.

Where To Find a Project Car

Start with local Craigslist posts. Car shows and automotive swap meets are always an excellent place to find project cars for sale. Ebay is another good source.

You may have tried many times, but never had much luck stopping at people's houses and asking about their old car in the yard or garage, but there's no harm in trying. Old barn finds although having a wonderful mystique, old barns are usually just full of old tractors and farming equipment. That should never stop you from looking.

Enjoy a Cruise-In

Don't want to go to all the trouble of getting your car ready for a car show? Does all the prep work and the competition seem to be too much? Try a cruise-in.

This year in our region we can pretty much participate in a car show every weekend.

Pack the chairs in the trunk, along with a few bottles of water, and get out and mix with the locals. Show off your car.

Part of the fun of a cruise-in is getting there. Watching the heads turn or someone honking their horn at you are a few of the perks. Not to mention the sound of your engine and the rumble of the ride.

When you arrive pick your spot. Get out and mingle with the crowd. Take the time to talk to people about your car. Tell them what makes your car special to you. Share a memory or a unique quality of your car.

Don't forget to invite someone to our club meetings on the fourth Thursday of each month or direct them to our website or facebook page.
