Holy Name of Jesus Catholic Parish 2nd Annual Open Car Show

Editor Note: It is nice to see Herb with his rebirth on life out showing off his Cougar and Nancy showing off her Class B Motor Home both pictured above.

Saturday September 8, 2018 was a beautiful, but hot, day. Nancy and I had our vehicles at the Holy Name of Jesus Church and were ready to roll. Instead of putting up a tent for shade, for the first time, we rolled out the awning on her "B". We call it a "B" because it is a class B motor home. It was made in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada. (Try saying that three times fast.) The awning worked really well and kept us in shade all day. There were at least 52 cars registered. (We know that because the Cougar was 51 and her vehicle was 52.) I would guess that there were at least 70-80 cars registered. This show was really done very well. Organized, on time, and well attended.

I entered the Cougar in the 1961-70 Category. Voting was by People's Choice. We were pleasantly surprised when they notified us that the Cougar had taken 2nd place in category. We were really surprised to hear my name called again to receive the Best of Show award for the Cougar. The "B" did not win anything, but it does have two First in class trophies from previous shows. - Herb Thoms

Letter from the Editor

Plans have begun on the 2019 March 16 show and the 2019 Southeastern Fall National to be held at Cooper Riverside Park. We need everybody's help again to pull off these shows. Be thinking about where you would like to volunteer.

If you would like to try something new or handle the same areas you have in the past just speak up or sign up at the next meeting. Please contact me at 256-783-2261 to let me know where you would like to help.

We have started talking to show sponsors for both shows. If you have ideas or contacts for show book ads and show sponsors speak up.

Plan to enter your vehicles in both shows. Our spring show will be a chance to show off your car and get her out after a long winter. Our fall show you will also love getting involved in showing your vehicles on a National level.

The fall show will be the third National show held here in Mobile. This is a unique area of the United States and a fun area to show off.

Another aspect of these shows is showing off the history of your car. This is the time to think about your AACA approved sign and get it ordered. Some of the fun of our hobby is to educate others about our vehicles.

During our March show we will have a large variety of cars to show off to the City of Mobile. This is a great opportunity to find out what the younger generation is interested in and teach them a little about our vehicles.

You have a some time to finish up your project or find you a new one. Let's make these two shows the best we have had yet. It takes all of us to put together a successful show.

Louise Bianchi Chiotti Memorial Scholarship Award

Louise (Bianchi) Chiotti was born on June 11, 1914 in San Jose California. The Family's first automobile was a 1926 Dodge Sedan. Her two younger brothers purchased a 1939 Studebaker and took delivery in January 1939. They wanted to give it to Louise's son Dave in 1956. His mother thought it too big of a car for a fifteen year old in San Francisco and talked him into buying a 1930 Model "A" Ford Coupe. In 1959 the little Ford was a bit slow, so Dave purchased a 1959 Ford convertible. As Dave sat on the running board of the Ford waiting for the new owner to arrive his mom came and sat next to him. "You really don't want to sell it do you?" she asked. "No, I don't was my reply." "Then don't," Mom said.

Dave and Marilyn Chiotti still own the Model "A"; it is a Senior and First Place Grand National Award Winner. The 1939 Studebaker came to the Chiottis after spending 40 years under a walnut tree. It is now a Senior and First Place Grand National Award Winner. The 1926 Dodge was cut into a truck for ranch use in the 1940's. Dave brought it home in 1976 and built a Woodie. In 2000, they donated it to Luther Burbank Home & Gardens in Santa Rosa. After Dave and Marilyn's uncle's passing, they acquired their 1968 Cadillac El Dorado. It now lives in the AACA Museum in Hershey, PA. This $1,500 scholarship is based upon the same rules as the AACA Automotive Technology Award and is awarded as funds are available. It was instituted and funded by Dave and Marilyn Chiotti as a way to honor Louise and a way to continue to support youth in the hobby. Download the application from AACA.org.

REWIND

WHAT DEEP SOUTH REGION WAS DOING 29 YEARS AGO from the September 1989 Sparkplug

27th Annual Old South Antique Auto Show.

Like always the weather, the cars, the People, the Trophies, everything went perfectly, it was very enjoyable. I hope they do it again soon.

About 75 cars, flea market etc. lots of folks I had not seen in a long time, many trophies were awarded in numerous classes, every car made was covered.

They invited the Mustang Club, the Street Rods, the Modified to be included but in classes of their own so as not to be judged against antiques.

I think this is an idea catching the attention of clubs all of the country, more cars, more car fanatics, more revenues to operate the show, more help in running the show (Volunteers, you know).

The shade for the elevated I-10 ramp overhead sure made the "warm" afternoon very comfortable.

Many door prizes were awarded, for the first time this editor won a nice flash light with batteries, and it works, I mean I have all kinds of lights but this comes on very rare at my house.

I heard mentioned that next year they may change the date to later part of the year. Will let you know what they decide. Most of DSR members left wit a trophy in their class.

The Judges were awarded nice plaques for their efforts, a nice touch. Thanks to all the people involved in making this show so pleasant.

In regard to our own show for next year, Geary called to say he was still alive, he has already worked out a better plan for easing registration line and waiting, work toward trophies.

He will be in town shortly, his job is ending in Tenn., a new job starting in Ala. The restoration on his turnpike cruiser still going.

What have you been up to?

Breakfast at Golden Corral

Breakfast at the Golden Corral on August 25 had 26 people present. 10 DSR members were present.

David and Joyce Ladnier's Birthday/ Anniversary Party

David and Joyce celebrate on August 25 at Our Lady of Lodes Church. David and Joyce have been married for 20 years and Joyce celebrated her 70 birthday. There was plenty of Cake and ice cream to go around.

DeSoto - 2, Paul - 0

I'm about to take a hammer to the convertible!

We finally got the brake problem fixed. We put new springs in it. I guess they hold the shoes away from the drums.

So, on to fixing a piece of chrome that attaches to the quarter windows. It holds the weather stripping that fits between door window and quarter window. They had dry rotted and been replaced a while ago. A true pain to get the rubber down a 15 inch 'c' shaped piece of chromed metal. After doing this, the rivets holding the piece to the window frame let go.

So seats out, upper and lower interior quarter cards out, fight with mechanism to release window. Fight to get weather stripping off metal holder, drill new holes through holder and window frame, rivet pieces back together and remount window -

... only to find a small crack (lots of yelling and cussing ensues). So, fine, it's too hot to fix it and the shop has A/C, but is jammed right now. It can wait.

So, to cheer my self up, I wash the car, it rains mid wash which is fine, but while I'm drying it, it starts again so into the garage. Yesterday I took it out to take it to show the woman who has been cutting my hair for twenty years (Tracy refers to her as Pippy Longstockings due to her red hair and unique fashion sense, e.g., who can put a feminine touch to work overalls? Plus add a hat?)

As I'm putting down the windows I see a NEW crack in Behold! The spritely Comet, always ready to roll and the problematic DeSoto hiding in shame". The small angel between the doors is a tribute to Paul's Mother. The angels prays that she and the garage will not be hit. My Mother's famous, often repeated, plea was "Don't tell your father I hit the garage (again)." Apply your own French Canadian accent.

the driver's window (Long, Enthusiastic, Possibly unique, expletive deleted here). I suspect the guys at the body shop guys never reset the stops I suspect and the window rammed against the top of the vent window frame. So, the car is sitting under its cover and I am not looking at it for a while. (Possible severe pouting)

We have had ongoing problems with broken side glass mostly because of a crappy design enhanced by the lack of a stable roof. There was a 1956 Dodge La Femme at the AACA show in March that showed similar window alignment issues which confirmed it wasn't just us. Fortunately the side glass is fairly easy find. Also liquid window welt, while runny and gooey works wonderfully. Just don't get it on you skin because you will have to wear it off. It doesn't forgive.

October 1st we go to Seattle to purchase an Art Morrison chassis for the GTO. That will be expensive. There is no other news about the GTO as I'm still recovering from a carpal tunnel procedure.

The Comet remains sitting in her garage stall probably saying "Why don't you use me? My windows are good, I actually have a drive train, and I friggin' run, dammit."

Reworking the Model T

What I Have been up to? I have been reworking one of my Model T brakes and trying out a new Model T jack. Start off with the jack. A friend brought over a motor cycle jack to use on my T Model. This is the best jack you will find for Model T and Model A Fords. The lift weight for jack 1500 lb. which A Model T weight whole car 1200 lb. and A Model will not reach this only jacking up front or back.

Brakes you may or may not know a Model T Ford does not have wheel brakes. The brakes in trans. The brakes I have on 2 of by Model T's are left and right Calipers from a Year 1977 Model 1100 Kawasaki Motor Cycle. I watch ebay and find them there. - Ray Harper

David in Birmingham

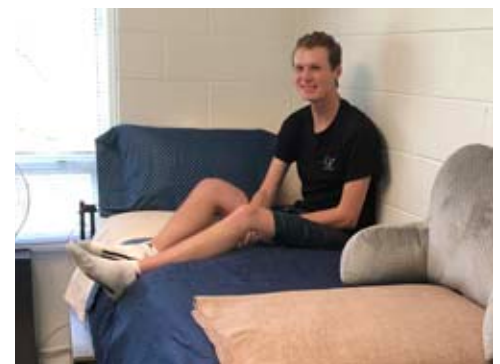

I've been pretty good so far, already busy. The day after we moved in, we all boarded buses and headed off to do community service as a class bonding exercise. I spent the whole morning edging the sidewalks at the intersection of Steiner Ave. and 14th St. SW, very inner city, somewhere I wouldn't like to be after sun set. Another guy and I used the old style edgers that I've never seen before - basically a razor sharp bicycle gear attached to the end of the stick. Talk about a forearm workout! My classes are going well so far, my favorite is my history class. (I am a History major, so I'm going to know the history building very well) The class I'm in right now is American History, spanning from the Pilgrims and original colonists to the Civil War and Reconstruction. I've made a few acquaintances from classes and the cafeteria - girls are awful to talk about cars to however. I also have a writing class this semester. and I chose the history of FoMoCo as the topic of my semester long research paper. (There's always plenty to learn, but I'm fairly confident that I could stretch out whatever I already know for 15 pages) - David Reeves

Some pictures from move in day, August 24th.

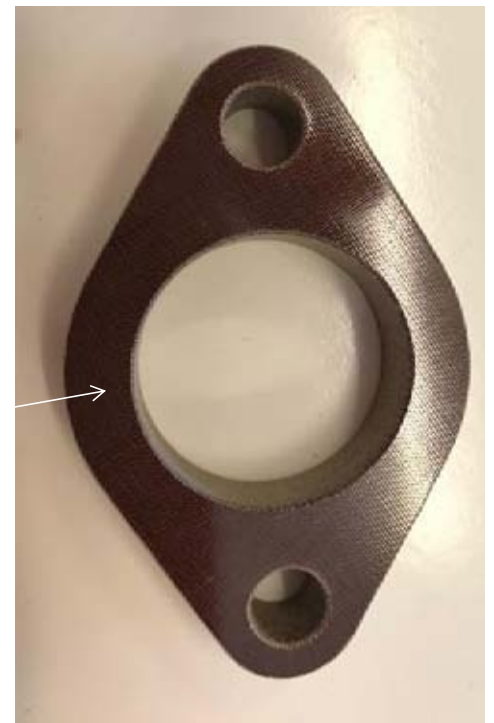

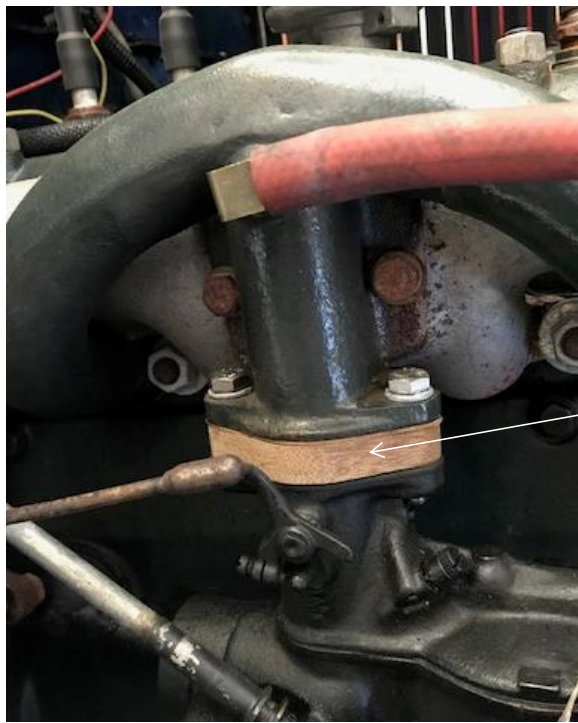

Mystery Solved

Here it is, the phenolic gasket rather known as a phenolic block. It is a carb spacer that restricts the heat flow from the intake manifold to the carburetor, therefore reducing the heating of the gas in the carburetor. We have now solved the mystery of fuel boiling and causing vapor locking.

When the gas boils the vapor will cause the engine to stop. Thanks to Dick Fischlein and his mastering of woodworking and Walt Fullers locating the phenolic stock we were able to distribute numerous copies of this gasket to our Model A members. Happy motoring in our summer heat.

Mobile adorns the July/August Cover of Antique Automobile

Photos taken by Wes Peterson at the 2018 Winter Meet in Mobile graced the cover and inside the July/August issue of Antique Automobile. The Deep South Region and Mobile continue to capture the attention of AACA. Cooper Riverside Park was the beautiful setting of the Meet and will be the setting for both our March 16, 2019 and the 2019 Southeastern Fall Nationals.

No Luck At All!

Here we go again. Upon return from our first outing to a Model A Breakfast, we pulled into garage and shut the gas off and continued to smell the scent of raw gas for several days. Would you believe the tank had a ruptured seam on the top and gas would not leak unless the tank was full. Yes, we filled the tank on the way to breakfast. After emptying the tank and removing it, we took it to a shop to have it repaired. No such luck, it can't be repaired.

All is not lost, a friend in Dallas just happened to have a sealed and tested tank that he would let me have. We will be on the road shortly. - Walt Fuller

Tulsa “elected” Capital of Route 66

Reprint courtesy of Hemmings Daily at www.hemmings.com/blog.

Written by Daniel Strohl

Nations have capitals; states have capitals; roads generally do not. Route 66, however, technically hasn't been a federally designated road for more than 30 years now — instead, it's become something more like a blend between a destination and a cross-country community — so why not designate a capital for it?

So went the thinking over at Route 66 News, where Ron Warnick decided to put it up to his readers to vote for the city that best exemplifies the history and the spirit of the Mother Road. Inspired by a recent article in the Tulsa World in which writer John Klein argued that Tulsa “is already the heart of Route 66,” Warnick included the Oklahoma city in his list of candidates alongside nine other primary candidates and eight other secondary candidates.

Among those candidates were Tucumcari, New Mexico, which as Warnick and Klein pointed out recently made USA Today's list of 50 places to visit across the United States; Springfield, Missouri, which bills itself as the birthplace of Route 66; Pontiac, Illinois, which houses the Route 66 Hall of Fame; and Williams, Arizona, the last location along Route 66 that Interstate 40 bypassed.

Nearly 60 percent of Warnick's respondents agreed with Klein and voted for Tulsa. Indeed, Tulsa has strong links to Route 66 history: Cyrus Avery, the businessman who advocated for Route 66's adoption during the 1920s, hailed from Tulsa and was instrumental in bending the course of the highway to travel through Tulsa rather than straight across from Chicago to Santa Monica, California.

In addition, Tulsa has preserved a good number of Route 66 landmarks, from the original alignment bridge over the Arkansas River (punctuated by the Cyrus Avery Centennial Plaza, above) to the massive Meadow Gold neon sign; and the city will soon host the Route 66 Experience, a museum dedicated to the highway, expected to open this fall.

“There has already been so much done to help promote our rich Route 66 heritage,” Ken Busby, executive director and CEO of the Route 66 Alliance, told Klein. “There are projects underway. There are plans for the future. All along 11th Street there is a renaissance. The Kendall-Whittier neighborhood to everything in west Tulsa and out to our eastern edges. There is so much going on.”

That’s not to say Tulsa unilaterally ran away with the vote. While it beat Springfield, the runner-up, by a handy 45-point margin in the general tally, Warnick noted that participants from outside the United States voted for Tucumcari, with Tulsa falling to third (tied with Flagstaff) among that demographic.

The voting could amount to little more than a thought experiment, as Warnick suggested. However, it also illustrates a yearning for the community of Route 66 enthusiasts — scattered across the country and across the globe — to begin to coalesce and centralize around core preservation efforts. Not coincidentally, that yearning comes at a critical time for Route 66, as Congress debates granting it National Historic Trail status, as the National Trust for Historic Preservation considers the road an endangered place, and as a long-term federal funding program for the road is set to expire next year.

Whether this unofficial vote means we’ll be getting more road capitals in the future remains to be seen.

Publications Update

David Anspach

Vice President - Publications

The Newsletter evaluation program is in full swing. It looks like a great year for AACA Publications. I want to first thank all of the evaluators.

Without them, the awards program could not exist. These people spend hours of their personal time studying every newsletter submitted for evaluation with no reward! Please thank them when you see them.

Now I want to discuss the most common problem that we, as evaluators, have found so far. The use of copyrighted material has been found in a lot of publications this year. Using copyrighted material can set you, your region and its officers, and the National club up for legal action. There have been court awards of 10's of thousands of dollars when the original writer of an item has sued a publication for the use of his material.

What is the most common source of that material?...The Internet. If you use something you found online, you can almost assume that it is copyrighted!

Articles, jokes, pictures, trivia contests, even crossword puzzles, are usually copyrighted. Using this material can cost you and your club a lot of money. Make sure material that is submitted to you from members is also checked as they may have gotten it from copyrighted sources.

So how can you get the material you need and still protect yourself? ASK!! Take the time to find the source of the material and ask the originator for permission to use it. In most cases, you will be asked to credit the source and nothing more. You may however be asked to pay a fee. It is then a decision as to pay or not use the material. I know it takes time but it can save you a lot of money! Many web sites state that permission is granted with crediting. If it doesn't say that, you can bet that it is protected material. In addition, there are sources, such as the Rummage Box or the AACA Speedster that are printed just for the purpose of helping provide our editors with materials to use. Also sharing of newsletters from other Regions is helpful in getting material.

Obviously, any original material written by editors and chapter members, is ok to use without any further permission. But otherwise protect yourself and your club.

If you have any questions on a piece of material feel free to e-mail me at tmkldwwj@yahoo.com or call me at 484-769-7856.

At the 1900 Paris, France World Fair Rudolf Diesel showed off his engine and was given the Grand Prix award for excellence. But, the first diesel engines did not go into cars, trucks or even locomotives.

The first diesel engines were used in the shipping industry. In 1898, Rudolf Diesel licensed his new engine to the Branobel Russian oil company for use as an engine in a ship. In 1903 the first oil tanker propelled by a diesel engine is launched and in 1904, the French build the first diesel-powered submarine.

It was until 1912 that the first train with a diesel engine was introduced by the Danish. In 1922 the first land vehicle without a track, a tractor by Mercedes-Benz was built with a diesel engine. Finally, in 1923, the first truck with a diesel engine was introduced by Daimler, Benz and MAN.

The Cummins "Diesel Special" racecar was driven at both Daytona and the Indianapolis 500 in 1931 and did not have to make a single pit stop. In 1933 an older Bentley fitted with a diesel engine was the first of its kind to compete in the Monte Carlo Rally. In 1934, the Diesel Cummins Indy Car made another appearance (both are pictured above).

In 1933, the Citroën Rosalie (pictured above) was introduced as the first production passenger car to be powered by a diesel engine. Because of legal restrictions on the diesel engine, the car did not go into production until 1935.

Shortly afterward, in 1936 the Mercedes-Benz 260D and the Hanomag Rekord diesel cars were introduced into the marketplace. Because of the size and weight of the diesel engine, however, they did not flourish in the automotive industry like gasoline-powered cars did. They remained in trucks and larger vehicles.

In the 1950s and 1960s diesel cars were slowly reintroduced to the public on a limited basis. Mercedes-Benz, Peugeot, Austin, Isuzu, Fiat, and several others began introducing diesel driven taxis, ambulances, station wagons and a few other autos.

In 1967 the Peugeot 204BD was introduced as the first high speed diesel car. In 1976, the Volkswagen Golf diesel was marketed to the public. Since this time, turbo charged, fuel injected diesel engines and low emissions diesel cars have hit the market.

If fact, today in Europe some of the lowest polluting vehicles are not hybrids, but rather low emissions, clean burning diesel cars.

2019 AACA Membership
Renewals Start Soon

As most of you know, your AACA membership runs for a calendar year - January 1 through December 31. From about mid-September through the end of the year, AACA Headquarters gets a little crazy with membership renewal phone calls and mail. It's not uncommon for us to receive several hundred renewals in a day. Even though it's our busiest time of the year, making sure we get our 55,000+ members renewed is always our top priority.

Look for your first opportunity to renew your membership for 2019 with your September/October issue of Antique Automobile magazine. A renewal form will be included with this issue of the magazine. Simply fill out the form and send it back to the office with a check or credit card information.

If you're going to be at Hershey, you can also stop by the AACA trailer or tent and renew your membership in person with us.

We look forward to seeing or hearing from all of you very soon!
